A Diplomat

How He Got His Start In

His Profession.

By SAMUEL E. BRANT.

Association.

James Maitland, son of an admiral in the U. S. navy, fell in love with and married Mlle. Julie de Lavalie, the daughter of a French diplomat who had spent many years in the French service, a considerable portion of which time he resided in Washington. M. de Lavalie never represented his country as ambassador; he was an adept at secret methods then in vogue between nations, but, since the open diplomacy of the late Secretary Hay, now largely done away with. When any quick Machiavellian work was to be executed it fell to Lavalie.

Maitland and Mlle. de Lavalie were married while the groom was employed in the state department.

At the time the Panama canal was being located and there was any amount of chicanery perpetrated both as to its location and the prevention of its location both by Central and North Americans. Then came young Maitland's opportunity. One morning the secretary sent for him, handed him a dispatch and told him that he wished him to take it to the United States consul at Vera Cruz, who would see that it reached its destination.

Delighted at being thus enabled to make a beginning in his profession,

Maitland took the dispatch—it was placed in an official envelope of the state department addressed to the consul—and was about to leave when the secretary said to him:

"It is essential that the information contained in that envelope reaches our consul in Vera Cruz on or before the 13th. After that date it will be too late. It is well that you should know that its prompt delivery will involve the making of the failure to deliver millions of dollars by certain capitalists. You will therefore be very guarded in speaking of your mission and watch well the dispatch. I send it to Vera Cruz by you in order that no one in this country may know its ultimate destination. Nevertheless there are plenty of spies about, and we may have them right here in the state department. Be careful, and good luck to you."

When Maitland went home and with the exhilaration of youth told his wife of his mission, its importance, considering the interests involved, and all that, she failed to show a similar enthusiasm.

"What is it, pet?" he said. "You don't seem pleased."

"Jimmie," she replied, "you will never get it through."

"Why not?"

"They will steal it from you."

"What makes you think so, Julie?"

"From a little girl I have heard my father tell the ways people take to outwit one another. I know all about it.

You know nothing."

However, the little woman packed her husband's suit case—all the baggage he proposed to take—then took the dispatch to the library, and when she returned handed her husband a box of cigars. He opened it and removed arrived at Vera Cruz. He vowed that no one should during the passage come within arm's length of him.

He napped in his berth and read a novel which he had brought with him during the afternoon and evening, not leaving his stateroom. The next morning he passed on deck. He expected every moment that some man would attempt to make his acquaintance. No man did, but a very pretty young woman sitting in a steamer chair looked at him as he passed her and cast down her long Spanish lashes. Every time he passed in passing back and forth she gave him the same glance and the same downward sweep. He suspected her at once and put himself on his guard.

With the exception of the Spanish woman there was no evidence of any person or persons shadowing him. But on the second day out an old lady with very white hair came up the companionway and looked about for a seat.

The ship was rolling, and Maitland, taking hold of her arm, supported her to a steamer chair. She thanked him, but he would have nothing to do with her. Surely he had reason to suspect every one. The old lady besides thanking him made some commonplace remark, to which it would have been polite for him to respond, but he turned from her as though she had some infectious disease.

Several times after that he surveyed her from a distance and noticed that she looked very peculiar. Indeed, after scrutinizing her one afternoon as she sat dozing in her steamer chair it occurred to him that she was a young person disguised as an old woman.

When the day before the ship was due at Vera Cruz he saw her and the young Spanish woman sitting side by side and talking confidentially he made up his mind that they had been sent out from Washington to steal his dispatch and that one or both of them had already opened his suit case. Probably one did the work while the other kept watch.

A few hours before his arrival in port

Maitland went to his st

Result of Republican Primaries.

The result of Tuesday's primaries, which resolved itself into a contest between the Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers on the one side and the rank and file of the regular, simon-pure Republicans on the other, resulted in a mixed State, Congressional and Legislative ticket being chosen. For Governor the Lincoln-Roosevelt League names Hiram Johnson, while the regular Republican organization elected Kessling for Lieutenant-Governor and about two-thirds of the balance of the State ticket. Kent defeated McKinlay for Congress and as an offset in this county Price for State Senator, and Weske for Assemblyman, both Regulars, easily defeated Whitney and Wingate, the Lincoln-Roosevelt League candidates.

The county ticket went out without opposition, if we except Glenn E. Murdock, who defeated Geo. W. Colgan for a place on the ticket for County Treasurer. The names of the successful candidates follows:

Now that the smoke of the political battle fought out at the polls Tuesday between the Republican hosts is clearing away the defeated candidates are pledging their support to the successful nominees. Particularly the Regulars, who are anything but soreheads when winning or losing a fight. This is as it should be.

Reformers Have Now Turned Job-Chasers.

OVER Petaluma way, now that Kent has defeated McKinlay for the Republican nomination for Congress, the Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers in that town have already engaged in a three-cornered squabble over the Postoffice job. Among the reformers over that way who would oust Postmaster Emmet Olmstead to secure the billet for himself are W. J. Hickey, J. W. Dinwiddie and Hiram Hopkins, which fact is greatly regretted by editor Arthur of the Courier, who is also a reformer and no doubt is hankering after the job himself. We would advise the gentlemen to go slow in this matter and to keep right on in their reform work of getting "the rascals" out of office and not have it said they have espoused the cause of "reform" for what there is in it.

We would furthermore remind the over-zealous patriots of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League that notwithstanding the defeat of Duncan McKinlay for a place on the ticket, the Republican party still survives and that Postmaster Olmstead will continue to hold the office for many a day yet to come. For is he not honest and capable and a staunch Republican as well? Another thing, these would-be reformers and patriots must not forget the fact that William Kent of Kentfield is now the Republican nominee for Congressman of the Second District after one of the most strenuous political family rows ever fought out at the polls by the Republicans of California. Now, in all seriousness, when Kent needs and ought to receive his party support how can he expect to be elected by promising to turn his own party men out of office, if they be honest, capable and faithful, to make place for political job chasers who have done their share toward breaking down the Republican party in this State.

The Hay Market

Somers & Co. of San Francisco, in their weekly report on the condition of the market for the week ending August 16th, say:

"Receipts of hay still continue very heavy, a total of 4490 ton having arrived during the past week. Although a good portion of this has been alfalfa which has moved off very rapidly both for shipment to Washington and Oregon and for local consumption, yet the amount of grain hay which has been offered for sale has been considerable more than the market could absorb. The railroad tracks are congested with hay practically all the time and concessions in price are being made sight along in order to remove the hay, thus avoiding the severe demurrage charge of $6.00 per day. Cars for shipment are scarce throughout the State and practically the only way in which to secure the cars for loading is to demand them under the Reciprocal Demurrage Law and depositing one quarter of the freight charges with the receiving agent."

"By far the greater portion of the arrivals are of the medium and poorer grades hay which are very difficult to move, and surprising to say the little choice wheat or tame oat hay which is offered does not command the premium which usually exists when so great a portion of the receipts are of inferior grades."

"Alfalfa is higher and the demand for same heavy, consumers in their efforts to secure their supply seem to be perfectly willing to meet the advance, evidently appreciating the situation and realizing that in all probability we will see still higher prices shortly."

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

HIRED APPLAUSE.

The Great Rachel Made the Claque Earn Its Money.

Speaking of applause in theaters, a theatrical man relates the following concerning the great actress Rachel: "It seems that upon a certain opening night Rachel received enthusiastic applause, but on the second night it was so noticeably slim that the actress felt deeply grieved and bitterly complained that the claque was not doing its duty. The leader of the hired 'applause makers' on hearing of her displeasure wrote her a letter in which he endeavored to excuse himself from any blame.

"Mademoiselle—I cannot remain under the obloquy of a reproach from such lips as yours," he began. "The following is an authentic statement of what really took place: At the first representation I led the attack in person not less than thirty-three times. We had three acclamations, four hilarities, two thrilling movements, four renewals of applause and two indefinite explosions. In fact, to such an extent did we carry our applause that the occupants of the stalls were scandalized and cried out a la porte! "My men were positively exhausted with fatigue and even intimated to me that they could not again go through such an evening. Seeing such to be the case, I applied for the manuscript, and after having profoundly studied the piece I was obliged to make up my mind for the second representation to certain curtailments in the service of my men."

"The writer thus goes on at some length to assure the actress he will try to make future amends and requests her to believe in his profound admiration."—Exchange.

TALKING IN FIGURES.

Significance of Certain Numbers in the Telegraphers' Code.

"In the telegraphers' code numbers have special significance of which the general public is not aware," remarked a veteran key night the other day. "Most everybody knows that 30 means 'good night,' or the end of a story, but few outside the profession know that 31 is also a code sign. Railroad operators, however, know that this call is a signal to the operator at the other end to come back and repeat train signals to the sending operator. It also has another meaning. 'Train order to be signed by conductor and engine driver.' Nineteen, on the other hand, means that the train order is not to be signed by conductor or engine driver. Twenty-four has also the latter significance on some roads. "Five is simply an interrogation point and in the vernacular could be translated 'Anything doing?' Thirteen signifies 'Do you understand?' Twenty-five means 'busy,' but nobody seems to know how it came to have that significance unless perhaps it means that the operator is still in the midst of his work, being some distance away from 30. "Seventy-three means 'best regards,' and newspaper men and operators employ this expression constantly. Of course 23 has come to mean in this numerical language just what it does in ordinary parlance, 'skidoo,' 'va-moose' or 'butt out' or any of the thousand and one other equivalents."—New York Herald.

The Governor's Quick Wit. While talking to a former governor of Illinois, who was noted for the quickness of his wit, an English tourist spoke with special fervor of a sight he had seen in another state. "I attended a Sunday service for the inmates of the state prison," he said, "and I learned that of the 208 persons now confined there all but twelve voluntarily attend religious services held in the prison chapel twice each Sunday. "Most extraordinary," said the governor musingly. "I am sorry to say it is not so with us. But then," he added soberly, "in Illinois, you see, most of the respectable people do not come to prison."—Lippincott's.

After they had gone on some little distance Brown said to Jones: "Did you notice that Mrs. Robinson never said a word?" "Oh, yes," said Jones. "You see, she's deaf and dumb." "Lucky chap is Robinson. But I suppose she can talk with her fingers?" asked Brown. "I think so," replied Jones, "for Robinson hasn't a dozen hairs left on his head."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
